

List of Contributors

Hellmut Wollmann is an (emeritus) professor of public administration at Humboldt Universität zu Berlin (1993–2001) and Freie Universität Berlin (Free University Berlin) (1974–1993). He was Kennedy Memorial Fellow at Harvard University (1971–1972). His research has been focusing on (comparative) public policy and public administration, focusing on subnational/local levels, and policy evaluation. He was visiting professor at numerous foreign universities (inter alia Tokyo, Beijing, Moscow, Firenze). He has been consultant for UNDP, Council of Europe etc. on administrative modernization particularly in Central Eastern European countries. Among many publications is a recent book Sabine Kuhlman/Hellmut Wollmann, 2014, Introduction to Comparative Public Administration. Edward Elgar
E-mail Address: hellmut.wollmann@cms.hu-berlin.de

Heungsuk Choi is professor in the Department of Public Administration at Korea University, Seoul. He received his Ph.D. degree from Syracuse University. His research focuses on administrative reform, comparative analysis of public service delivery, e-government, and local governance. He is the founding director of the KU Center for Governance Design, and leading a Social Science Korea (SSK) research project, titled “Citizen-centered Governance Design.” He is currently an editorial board member of Public Administration Review and Asia Pacific Journal of Public Administration. He also has much experience of advising government bodies, which include Ministry of Government Administration and Home Affairs, Board of Audit and Inspection, Office of Prime Minister, National Assembly of South Korea, and so on.
E-mail Address: hschoi@korea.ac.kr

Sonam Penjor is the Head of Women Division at the National Commission for Women and Children. He is a civil servant with the Royal Government of Bhutan. He has a BA in Economics from the Delhi University, India and a MA in Political Science from the Meiji University, Tokyo, Japan. His field of interest in particular is the Role of State in enhancing people’s participation for Good Governance. At present he is extensively working on programs related to mainstreaming gender in development and enhancing women’s participation.
E-mail Address: spenjor@ncwc.org.bt

Nisada Wedchayanon is professor and dean at the Graduate School of Public Administration, National Institute of Development Administration, Thailand. She is currently member of the National Legislative Assembly of Thailand. She was director of the NIDA Training Center and worked as consultant for a number of public agencies, including the Thailand Institute of Nuclear Technology and the Secondary Mortgage Corporation. Her research interests and teaching focus are on administrative reform, public sector human resource management and development, and local government personnel performance evaluation. She earned her doctorate in political science from Northern Illinois University.

E-mail Address: nisada.nida@gmail.com

Akio Kamiko was graduated BA in Law from Faculty of Law of the University of Tokyo. He received MA in Land Economy from the University of Cambridge. He is now a professor and a vice president at Ritsumeikan Asia Pacific University. He is a member the executive council of Eastern Regional Organization of Public Administration (EROPA). He joined the Ministry of Home Affairs (present Ministry of Internal Affairs and Communications) after graduation from the University of Tokyo and started teaching career after retirement from the ministry.

E-mail Address: kamiko-a@sps.ritsumei.ac.jp

Yifan Yang, Ph. D in Economics, joint supervised by Max-Planck Institute on Social Law and Social Policy, Munich, Germany & Southwestern University of Finance and Economics, Chengdu, P. R. China. Associate Professor in Social Security and Public Policy, at School of Public Administration, Southwest Jiaotong University, Chengdu, P. R. China. Visiting research fellow at Poverty Alleviation and International Development Research Center, Yonsei University of Korea, and National Graduate Institute for Policy Studies (政策研究大学院大学, GRIPS), Japan. Research Areas: Public Governance and Risk Management, International Comparative Study on Welfare Policy, Pension Economics.

E-mail Address: yangswjtu@126.com

Dwarika Nath Dhungel was a SPURS Fellow at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, USA. He holds PhD degree from Nagpur University, India and was a Visiting Scholar at the Workshop on Political Theory and Analysis, Indiana University, Bloomington USA. During nearly five decades of professional life, he has held various positions, including the position of the Secretary to a number of Nepalese government ministries and head of a research institute. He has written a number of books and articles on different aspects of public administration and local governance.

E-mail: ddhungel@hotmail.com, and dwarikanathdhungel@gmail.com

Mahendra Raj Sapkota is a career researcher. His academic qualification is M.Sc. in Agricultural Economics and Degree in Economics. He has been continuously involved in carrying out research studies for more than 30 years.

E-mail: mrsapkota@hotmail.com

Prijono Tjiptoherijanto is a professor of Economics at the University of Indonesia. He got a Ph. D in Economics from the University of Hawaii, USA, in 1981. He was a visiting professor at the Kobe University (2006), Hiroshima University (2009) and Yokohama National University (2013) all are in Japan. His bureaucratic career involved an Assistant to the Minister for State Secretariat, Head of National Civil Service Agency and last post as a Secretary to the Vice President of the Republic Indonesia in 2000–2005. At present he is a Commissioner of the Civil Service Commission (CSC), the first CSC in Indonesia after 70 years of independence.

E-mail Address: prijonoth@yahoo.com

Atsushi Konishi is Director-general of the Research Department at the Japan Intercultural Academy of Municipalities. He is concurrently a practitioner professor at the Kyoto University School of Government. His research theme is the history of Japan's Local Autonomy Law. In 1984, after graduating from the University of Tokyo, he joined the Japan national government's Ministry of Internal Affairs and Communications. Since then, he has served in numerous posts for Japan's central, prefectural, and municipal governments. Previously, he was a practitioner professor at the Graduate School of Public Policy, University of Tokyo.

E-mail Address: a-konishi@jiam.jp