

Please be aware that your ID will be checked when making a contract for rental mobile phones.

The Revised Mobile Phone's Improper Use Prevention Act came into effect in December 2008, and the ID of any individuals who wish to make a contract for rental mobile phones will now be checked to prevent bank transfer scams. Your understanding is thus appreciated.

Key Cautions

- Mobile phones will not be lent without an ID check.
- When making a contract over the counter, applicants must have a valid photo ID, such as a passport or driver's license, ready for presentation.
- When making a contract by a means other than over the counter, applicants must send a valid photo ID and make necessary payments by wire transfer or via credit card.
- When a corporate entity is making a contract, the ID of the individual responsible for such contract will be checked, in addition to the presentation of official documents such as a copy of the corporate registration.
